THE MAN IN ARMOR

Was no match for the microbe. Glants he might say, but this microscopic organism defied him, and in many a campaign more men were destroyed by camp diseases than by the enemy's sword.

The one way to arm against microbe disease is to keep the blood pure. Impure blood both breeds and feeds disease.

The signs of impure blood are easy to read. Pimples, boils, and eruptions generally proclaim the blood to be impure. Scrofulous sores and swellings, salt-rheum, eczema, etc., are other signs of a corrupt condition of the blood.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood, cures scrofulous sores, boils, pimples, eczema and other defiling and disgusting diseases.

"It gives me great pleasure to express my faith in the virtue of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. Ezekiel Flores, of Graytown, Ottawa Co., Ohio. "I suffered everything for two years with humor on my face which baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. Was at once advised to go to the hospital; was doctored there for three months without success. Came home discouraged. Then began to doctor with a chemist. He also failed to help me. Then I began Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, with no faith whatever in it. It did only to please my wife, but I am happy to tell you that after taking five bottles I am entirely cured."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Advice is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 11 stamps for the cloth-bound volume. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

REMARKABLE DISCOVERY.

Under date of June 6 the Las Palmas correspondent of the London Daily Mail sends a remarkable account of a great scientific discovery. According to the correspondent the discovery is a method of directly using atmospheric electricity without chemicals or dynamo and practically applying it without any motive force. The discoverer is Doctor Clement F. L. Lucas, engineer of woods and forests for the Canary Islands, and for many years professor of physics at St. Augustine's College, Las Palmas, and known as a solvent of the dead.

His discovery he has jealously guarded the secret of his labors, fearing that a premature revelation might rob him of his reward. Even now, while he claims to have entirely succeeded, he remains silent concerning the exact principles of his discovery. He claims, however, to have invented a generator which can collect the electric fluid, and is able to store it and to apply it to an infinite number of purposes, for instance, in connection with ships, railways, and manufactures. He says he expects the effect of his discovery will be a tremendous economic and industrial revolution.

He will not give the key to his invention, but declares that at the only extraordinary point about it is that it has taken so long to discover a simple scientific fact. The people of the Canary Islands consider Prof. Lucas to be very clever, and they firmly believe that his invention is genuine. He had his apparatus made in separate parts in Paris, Berlin and Las Palmas, and fitted them together himself.

The firm in Berlin, which supplied some of the parts, was curious enough to send to the Canary Islands an emissary to try to draw the professor out, but the attempt was unsuccessful. Prof. Lucas is shortly going to Madrid and Berlin to patent his invention. A German electrical company is reported to have offered a very large sum for the invention, while a syndicate in Barcelona has also made a generous offer. Neither advance has been accepted.

This, the correspondent adds, is all that is possible to obtain at present. No opinion can be expressed as to the value of the discovery until further details are known. The London Mail adds that it has learned from other sources that Prof. Lucas has constructed a rough apparatus by which he obtains a current of 550 volts, which he utilizes in lighting his house and driving a twenty-horsepower motor. He is shortly going to London with a perfected working apparatus. His invention comprises a generator, motor, and sort of governor or regulator. The whole apparatus is so simple that a child could work it.

SCHWAB'S $2,500 PUDDING.—Proprietor George Moore, of "The Cheshire Cheese," London, has completed the $2,500 pudding which Steel Trust President Charles M. Schwab ordered a "having once sat in Dr. Johnson's chair on 'pudding day' in the famous old London tavern.

"The Cheshire Cheese pudding" is a sacred British institution, celebrated in song and story for at least 200 years. In Dr. Samuel Johnson's day no one could remember either the origin of the tavern or its "pudding day." Bosworth doubtless made the pudding dry there, long after Congress and Dryden had stretched their legs under its tables. It was Oliver Goldsmith's favorite haunt when he was in funds. Later Dickens, Thackeray, Leigh Hunt, John Forster, Sergeant Talfourd—in fact, all the shining ones and rascals of Victorian literature—were its faithful patrons. Today London's workers in literature and journalism prefer the still wooden seats of "The Cheshire Cheese"—especially on "pudding days"—to the upholstered chairs and modern service of the West End restaurants. And no visitor from abroad has really seen London until he has turned off Fleet Street and prowled up quaint old Wine Office Court and through the portals of the only remaining ancient London tavern.

TROUBLE WITH NEGROES.—A threatened uprising of the negroes which alarmed the people north of Meridian, Miss., has been frustrated by the determined stand by white, who armed themselves and arrested the leaders of the negroes, Green Johnson and "Nat" Moore. A call for the negroes to land themselves again to the white was addressed to "Nat" Moore and signed by a negro Baptist preacher named Rufus. Rufus said that a mob of 50 negroes would form at Rio, Green county, 25 miles northwest of Meridian, and march to Green Johnson's house; that from there they would go through the county and kill all the whites, destroy their farms and burn their houses. As soon as the whites learned of the purpose of the negroes, they armed themselves with Winchester rifles, and in a short time had so intimidated the negroes that it is now thought the uprising is at an end. The people of the threatened district, however, are still alarmed, and will be on the alert until all danger is past. The people of Marion are wrought up and prepared for any emergency.

More Harmful Than Alcohol

Overeating Worst Form of Intemperance.

If your food is undigested, you are underfed, no matter how much you eat. And the underfed man is, to the extent of the underfeeding, crippled for the battle of life. On the other hand, there is such a thing as overeating. The harm done by indigestion caused by overloaded stomachs exceeds that from the increased heartbeats caused by the use of alcohol or whiskey. Eat as much good food as you need but don't overload the stomach. If your stomach is weak it may refuse to digest what you eat. Then you ought to use a good digestant like Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat without the stomach's aid. This rest and the wholesome tonics contained in Kodol Dyspepsia Cure soon restore health. You don't have to diet. Don't eat too much. That's harmful. But eat enough and of sufficient variety. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure will digest it. It quickly relieves the sensation of fullness and bloating from which some people suffer after meals. It prevents belching and absolutely cures indigestion and other stomach troubles. Equally good for children.

Lemuel James, Marysville, O., says: "I suffered from dyspepsia for thirty years but a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure completely cured me and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from this disease."

He knows that this paper alone to advertise only the best in its columns, and when he saw Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised therein for lame back, he did not hesitate in buying a bottle of it for his wife, who for eight weeks had suffered with the most terrible pains in her back and could get no relief. He says: "After using the Pain Balm for a few days my wife said to me, 'I feel as though born anew,' and before using the entire contents of the bottle the unbearable pains had entirely vanished and she could again take up her household duties." He is very thankful and hopes that all suffering likewise will hear of her wonderful recovery. This valuable liniment is for sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.
